Follow a little dirt road up behind salt shed to park, it may be a contentious issue with some hwy guys, otherwise park at hwy and walk back. Continue to walk dirt road past overgrown yellow gate follow through slightly overgrown trail until it turns right onto another trail that will head back into the direction you just came, before little creek turn left, trail heads up hill.

THANKS TO THE SEA TO SKY BOLT FUND FOR THE HARDWARE REQUIRED FOR THIS CLIFF. THANK YOU TO EVERYONE WHO HAS SUPPORTED US OVER THE YEARS. WE REALLY APPRECIATE YOU ALL.

Tess and Krissy spent the better part of several rainy days out clearing the heavily overgrown base and trail . First discovered by an unknown climber who put up some ropes but never cleaned anything, this unknown person put in some bolts but they were poorly done and very difficult to remove, only one remains at an anchor but two new bolt hangers were added. Then Tyrone B. at some point years back put up some ropes and bolted 4 routes they are currently closed projects. Tess and Jay bushwhacked in to check out cliff a few years ago but in the end it was Tess and Krissy that spearheaded the crags development, they started with the base clearing, trail maintenance and scrubbing with the help of Jay R.

The knoll that is facing the cliff is where the new multi pitch "URSA MINOR' is from some points at the base or top of The Hideout you can see the clean streak running up the center, worth climbing if you want an easy day, you can find a Topo in Quickdraw Publication in free topo section, route is meant to be climbed in its entirety.
